THOUGHT and COMMENT

OUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

"If I have a dollar, and you have a dollar and we exchange— you have a dollar and I have a dollar. But if I have an idea, and you have an idea and we exchange—YOU HAVE TWO IDEAS AND I HAVE TWO IDEAS."

That in a few words sums up the substance of the reason for the existence of a Chamber of Commerce. The exchange of ideas about those things calculated to be the best for the betterment and advancement of a community are the principal functions of a chamber of commerce no matter how large or how small the city, or what its intended program may be. One man cannot run a chamber of commerce, a dozen or two members of the board of directors cannot run a chamber of commerce. The entire membership must play its part in carrying out its program as well as paying its annual membership dues.

The members of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce are to be given an opportunity to get in some good work along this line at the annual membership dinner, which is to be held on November 18. At this meeting a PROGRAM OF YOUR IDEAS IS TO BE DRAWN UP AND FROM THESE IDEAS WILL BE FORMULATED THE MAJOR PROGRAM OF THE CHAMBER FOR THE COMING YEAR. Everyone is to make a suggestion as to what the Chamber should do during the coming year to improve Richmond in every respect, including its betterment as a residential city and to attract additional industries.

It will be an impossibility for the Chamber to follow out all of the ideas which will be suggested at the meeting. Just what method will be followed in discovering those most essential has not been decided. An idea followed out by a great many chambers however, is to submit the entire list of suggestions to the membership on a ballot and the suggestion receiving the highest number of votes is then put at the head of the list and so on down the line.

In a city growing as fast as Richmond it is not practical in laying down a definite program and not varying from it in any respect. Enough time and funds will have to be held in reserve in the adoption of the program to permit for those things which will come up from time to time which cannot be predicted in advance.

Members of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce will do well to be on hand next week at the meeting and suggest those things which they think should be put on the program. This is especially good advice for those who are prone to kick about the way things are going. If your suggestion is put on the program, has merit, and meets with the approval of your fellow citizens, you can bet your last dollar that it will be diligently pushed during the coming year or until it has been accomplished.

COUNCIL MAY CALL ELECTION NEXT MONDAY

Sixty-Five Residents of Richmond Annex Sign Petition Asking Annexation

50 SIGNATURES ARE NEEDED

City Council Will Take Official Action After Names Have Been Checked

An official bid to become a part of the city of Richmond was made last night by 65 registered voters of the Richmond Annex. A petition requesting the Richmond City Council to call an election among the residents of the district to the city was presented to that body at its meeting last night.

As only approximately 50 signatures are required to call the election those in favor of the action feel confident that the election will be called at the meeting of the city council next Monday.

Upon the statement by City Clerk A. C. Faris that the petition had reached his hands at too late an hour to permit a checking of the names thereon before the meeting of the council official action on the petition was laid over until next Monday night when a check will have been made by the city clerk.

Following the presentation of the petition a letter from A. P. Schwartz one of the residents of the district was presented asking the council to go on record regarding the amount of improvements. (Continued to page 6)

SCHOOLS WILL NOT CLOSE ON ARMISTICE DAY

City Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms announced yesterday that the school board of Richmond has reached a decision that the schools of the city are not to be dismissed on Wednesday, Armistice Day. Appropriate ceremonies of the ending of the World War will be held in each school, Helms said. The board delayed making its decision, according to Helms, as it was desired to ascertain what ceremonies would be held, and whether or not the stores of Richmond would close.

County Superintendent W. H. Hanlon has issued a proclamation that the schools of the county will also remain open on Wednesday but that appropriate exercises are to be held.

ENGINEERS AND CONDUCTOR OF NEW YORK-CHICAGO FLYER ARE PENSIONED AFTER 50 YEARS' SERVICE

When the Pennsylvania Railroad's Broadway Limited, crack New York-Chicago flyer, made its maiden trip 21 years ago, Oliver P. Keller was at the throttle and Charles E. Eberly wielded the ticket punch. Each was a veteran then and now that they have reached 70, they have been retired on pensions. Eberly had had 50 years and 4 months of service and Keller 62 years and 6 months. This photograph was made as they were starting their last run from New York to Harrisburg, the first lap of the flyer's west-bound journey. They were receiving the congratulations of railroad officials.

Impersonates U.C. Professor in Try To Stop Publicity

OAKLAND, Nov. 9.—N. O. Wright, 33, failed today in an effort to keep his arrest in a bootleg raid last night on his home, 1228 Fifty-third street, from the public claiming he was connected with the faculty of the University of California and publicity would mean the loss of his position.

When Wright told authorities that he was an instructor in the engineering department of the university in San Francisco, an investigation to determine his identity was begun, but no trace was found of his name listed among the present faculty members nor among those of past years.

Officers found a large coffee pot in the kitchen of Wright's home, containing jackass brandy. A number of empty flasks and some whiskey glasses were also found. Wright admitted ownership of the liquor, but denied that he had ever sold any. The search warrant authorizing the raid is said to mention a sale on October 29, to an undercover agent in which ten drinks were served.

ODELL HANDLES SEVENTY CASES

LOCAL STORES NOT TO CLOSE WEDNESDAY

The stores of Richmond will remain open tomorrow, Armistice Day, according to a decision made last night at the Richmond Merchants' association semi-monthly dinner which was held in the St. Edmund's Guild room.

Discussion of the Christmas decorations for the streets took up most of the evening and it was decided to decorate every block between 4th and 23rd streets on Macdonald avenue at a cost of $66.00 per block. The decorations will be red and green bunting wrapped around the poles and there will be green holly wrapped over the bunting. Flags of red and green will be strung across the street with a banner with Merry Christmas on it in the center. E. Hazelton, W. McCracken and Al Furrer were appointed to act as decoration committee. Plans are also under way to have a huge Christmas tree erected, but the place has not yet been determined.

The Merchants are also arranging to have a public outdoor party on the evening of December 17th. There will be band concerts, community singing and various other attractions. President Fred La Moine appointed L. Garfinkle, H. Alberts and Al Abraham to act as entertainment committee. It is expected that all stores will remain open in the evening until nine o'clock from December 18th until Christmas.

City Assisting In Legion Celebration

Co-operating with the American Legion in the celebration of Armistice Week here, the city council last night instructed city Manager J. A. McVittie to comply with a request made by the legion that the city flags be used in decorating the streets. The municipal band will also turn out for the parade. Due to the late time the request was made some doubt was expressed as to the possibility to get the flags in place but every effort is to be made to place them before Wednesday.

RAIN FORCES POSTPONEMENT OF EXERCISES

Postponement of the opening ceremonies of the Armistice week celebration last night was forced upon the Richmond Post of the American Legion by the inclement weather. The circus being conducted in connection with the celebration at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue, opened yesterday afternoon despite the rain and will continue all during the week with the rides running and the various booths doing business each afternoon and evening. The big automobile parade that was scheduled for last night was postponed until Wednesday night and will join the Armistice Day parade of veterans, fraternal and civic organizations. The reception for George M. Maher, the disabled war veteran, who is the official honored guest of the city, and the veterans during the week will also take place on Wednesday evening.

The matter was referred to City Engineer E. A. Hoffman for a report next week.

S. district attorney.

Eleven members of the police force named in the scandal were ordered dismissed and Eugene Forney, acting chief and Captain Albert D. Trusdell, were reduced to the rank of sergeant by Mayor L. S. Sunderland. The officers indicted failed to follow Mayor's Sunderland's suggestion that they resign.

Berenger, Authority on Finance, to Be Named New Envoy From France

Senator Victor Henri Berenger, noted French financial authority, is soon to be appointed French Ambassador to the United States, succeeding Emile Daechener. It has become known in Paris from an unquestionable source, Daechener's position has been shaken by the criticism of members of the French debt mission who since their return to France, affirm that the Ambassador did not prepare President Coolidge and the members of the American Debt Funding Commission to understand the French position.

TWO BOYS ARE ARRESTED ON GIRLS' CHARGE

Charges of serious offenses involving two El Cerrito girls face Charles Actis, 19, 150 Richmond avenue and James E. Coon, 15, 110 Castro street, Richmond.

The charges made by the girls are being investigated by Deputy District Attorney James F. Hoye and Probation Officer Thomas A. Boyer.

Col. Mitchell Is Supported in His Complaint Against U. S. Army, Navy

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Colonel "Billy" Mitchell came pretty close to proving a large part of his case against inefficiency in the Air Service when his first witnesses were called today before the court martial.

All honors of the day went to Mitchell. Unexpectedly the bars were thrown down by the military court and he was permitted to introduce testimony tending to show that his statements assailing the Air Service were based upon fact. Not only was this testimony favorable to the accused air officer, but it was pointed out and strongly against the general staff of the Army and the high command of the Navy for their management of aviation.

The court granted Mitchell's counsel the widest leeway in introducing this testimony. Objection after objection by the judge advocate was overruled and every opportunity was given to Mitchell to prove his case. Through his witnesses he apparently succeeded in establishing the following: High officers of the Army made (Continued to page 6)

FOR FARM AID

A Co-operative marketing bill will no doubt be introduced at the coming session of congress. This will be directly in line with the utterances of President Coolidge, who, in an address before the National Republican Club of New York, said, "I have already encouraged organization and co-operative marketing that organized agriculture may cope with organized industry." In an address to the Association of Land Grant Colleges, held in Washington last year, the president said, "I want to see courses in co-operative marketing and farm economics alongside of soil chemistry and animal husbandry. The agricultural problem of today is not on the side of production, but on the side of distribution. I want to see a good farmer on a good farm raise a good crop and secure a good price."

That some action is necessary is best evidenced by the fact that the "spread" between the producer and the consumer is becoming greater every day all over the nation. A small class of middlemen must be reaping enormous profits, for the small retailer declares that his profits are not large. The producer, while receiving good, is not getting fabulous prices for his products. The consumer is paying prices that are out of proportion to the amounts received by the producer for his products.

A striking example is shown by a shopping tour made by an eastern householder. This is the result. Seventeen potatoes, not first class potatoes either, cost 25 cents. In another store two lamb chops cost 30 cents; while in still another place lemons, not even of A-1 grade, cost $1 a dozen. At another store one and a half pounds of string beans, rather anaemic in appearance, cost 23 cents. A dozen oranges ate up a dollar bill. The articles mentioned are a good barometer of prices of other food products. While it is true that the wages in the United States are far higher than in any other country, and while it is also true that the people do not object to paying the producer a good price for his goods, it is also a fact that there is a general complaint throughout the country against the small group of middlemen who have little, if any, capital invested and who take practically no risks in business.

It is acknowledged by economists and other experts that the president's suggestions along the lines of co-operative marketing, if followed by congress, will do much in solving the problem of both the producer and the consumer.

THE CROWDED DOCKET

The supreme court of the United States has opened its new term with 780 cases awaiting action of the court was the calling of the docket of original cases in which states are parties, for the purpose of eliminating those not prosecuted with reasonable diligence. The supreme court will have its hands full during the present term, which will probably last until June or July of next year.

Reports from Moscow say that Trotsky is again ill and compelled to go to the Caucasus to rest, but the dispatches do not say what he did to get "in bad" with his superior officers.

The way those Germans have stalled around about joining it, proves that there is one nation at least which takes the League of Nations seriously.

SALAD DAYS

WARM days are salad days. No matter how warm the weather, a salad is always cool and appetizing and although there are some persons who do not like salads, they are, fortunately few. So every housekeeper can arrange to make salads a large part of the summer menus she plans. A simple salad every night at dinner—just a crisp salad green, thoroughly chilled, dressed with a little oil and vinegar variously flavored—and a more elaborate salad for the main dish of summer luncheons, make the task of planning summer meals easier, provided, of course, the housekeeper and cook have plenty of good salads at their fingers' ends. Remember, the finer salad, especially in warm weather, should be simple. Lettuce or any other salad green, washed, crisped on the ice and dressed with oil and vinegar, is always sufficient. Sometimes the vinegar can be variously flavored—steeped with a few cloves or some minced parsley or a slice of onion or some nasturtium leaves for a few hours and then strained. Sometimes a little Roquefort cheese and paprika can be added to the French dressing. Sometimes sliced cucumbers or tomatoes or a few heads of asparagus or some sliced radishes, minced peppers or tiny onions can be served on the lettuce. But the summer dinner salad should always be simple.

For luncheon the more elaborate salads are reserved, and as these may well form the main dish of summer luncheons, they may be as elaborate as one wishes. A cup of cream soup, a substantial salad with bread and butter, and some fresh fruit make a delicious summer luncheon. So do a little creamed

"Bobbed Hair"

A DAZZLING MYSTERY STORY BY TWENTY FAMOUS AUTHORS

Copyright 1924-25, P. P. Collier & Son Co. and G. P. Putnam's Sons. "BOBBED HAIR" with Marie Prevost is a pictorialization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Connemara Moore, disguised as a nun, had slipped out of Aunt Celina's house in Connecticut, hailed David Lacy as he was driving past, and, strangers though they were, climbed in the car with him. Now these two are crossing Long Island Sound on a ferry. A big, burly stranger has just approached them and announced, "I'm Pooch." Back home in a worried company, Connie was to announce her engagement tonight—to Bing Carington or Salt Adams—but she didn't.

Until tonight he had considered these as adventures. Now he realized that they were not adventures but incidents—unfamiliar episodes after which one was assured of a warm bath and clean clothes. Here, however, was a situation which began nowhere and ended in approximately the same position. Indeed, instead of ending, it seemed as a rolling stone dislodged from a Swiss mountainside will multiply in its course, thundering through great forests and crasing villages until, having changed the topography of a country, it ceases as unexpectedly as it began. Yes, this was his first adventure.

Another difference between this and any previous experience was that heretofore he had always played the principal role. Tonight his function appeared to be merely that of stage manager. As long as he furnished transportation to the troupe he was allowed to tag along, but no one thought of consulting his desires in the development of the plot. As a matter of fact, he did not know yet how many persons there were in the cast. The thought pleased him. He would carry on and, if the cast grew too large, he would abandon the Isotta and hire a sightseeing bus somewhere.

"Why th' mask? I hardly knowed you at foist."

A voice in his car returned him to the Greenwich ferry. "Didje come right up from the works?" "As fast as I could get here."

"'Y' had us guessin'. We thought you might come on the other ferry. Some o' Swede's gang is up there watchin' of y'. If they missed you was to beat it on back to the boat an' have her ready fer us, so it's all right either way."

Connemara started. Since Pooch's appearance she had been groping blindly, frantically for some logical explanation to illogical events. Never for one moment, however, had she doubted the frank good looking man beside her with whom she had spent a lifetime in less than two hours. She would as soon have suspected Aunt Celina of being a professional second-story worker.

The finding of the papers in the car and the artistic identification of Mr. Pooch had been the work of some unseen force over which neither she nor her travelling companion had control.

Now for the first time a little devil of doubt hopped over the hood of the car and sat grinning at her through the windshield. Could it be that the "we-ness" of things was not so firmly established as she had supposed. A dawning consciousness that it might be rash to hop into the cars of strange men in the middle of night sent its chill down her back.

There was a movement in the back seat, and Mr. Pooch's phosphorescent countenance glowed between them like a Chinese lantern. "S-a-y, sister, I get y' now. That's good, that is I ben tryin' to get y' since I hopped in. I got y' now, though. I was only expectin' one, an' it turn me off a mile when I seen two on y', as th' feia says when he got th' D. T. S-a-y, you're good, you are. I seen everythin' pulled, I guess, but I ain't never seen th' nun gag worked before. Say, this business ain't no profession no more. It's an art. But looka, Sister. Why th' mask? I hardly knowed you at foist. What's all the Ku Klux over y' best friend? There ain't no nuns in Tokey."

Then spoke Sister Connemara words soft and assured which exploded in Lacy's ears like a giant cracker. "I put it on, Pooch, 'cause I thought I saw somebody I knew."

Great Heavens, was this girl connected in some way with that caricature of a hairless Mexican on the back seat? Or was he possibly going crazy? Had he hit a telegraph pole after leaving Stamford, and was he now lying broken in some ditch while his brain danced a crazy reel with death? That sounded like a movie title. Had someone slipped him a drink of old Scotch?

Pooch glanced through the back window of the car. "So-o-o." He snapped his fingers in thoughtful limitation of castanets. "Guess we might've give this o' season's back the once-over before we beach. Good now's never." He climbed out and disappeared around the back of the car.

A blanket of silence fell over the front seat. The lights of Bayville were pricked out of the blackness ahead. In another ten minutes they would be committed to the hands of an unknown destiny, who might turn out to be a policeman. Lacy's heart was heavy with suspicion and disillusionment, but his old passion for adventure, handed down through the generations from some gentleman buccaner in the queen's service, was flaming high. Without knowing where the dawn might find him, he cared less. Only one thing was clear and definite in the midst of all this uncertainty. He would look upon the face of this woman who dressed like a nun, spoke like an angel, scented herself like an April flower, and associated with the Bohemian of dime museums.

Connemara on her side of the front seat was having her own troubles. Unwelcome, but ever-growing, distrust formed the motif, and a rapidly increasing panic played hide and seek around and through it. One good scream would break the spell and bring her back to the world of ordinary people who spoke and acted in expected ways. She opened her mouth and took a deep breath in preparation for a drum-rocking yell. Then she saw the headlines in the morning papers: "Popular debutante denounces joy riders. Season's bad disguised as nun declares companions thugs on Greenwich ferry."

No, no! That was too grotesque. She closed her mouth and let out her breath.

The motor of the truck ahead backed several times, filling the passage with a cloud of evil-smelling smoke. Chains clanked in the bow.

"There's a Pierce on the other side," observed Mr. Pooch, climbing in. "We'll be off foist, though. Rather have 'em behind us. If they folly along, I guess this baby c'n dust 'em." Wherewith he struck a match with his thumb, set fire to the exploded cigar, and proceeded to offer his contribution to the general atmosphere of carbon monoxide.

The cars were moving off. "Stick close behind th' bambino," Pooch waved his incense burner at the truck ahead. "Our feller's waiting at the end of the dock. You're f'olly him along behind."

They were creeping off the boat, the powerful motor whirring with eagerness for the open road. Out of the darkness at the end of the short dock their headlights picked up the nose of a green Packard touring car. Pooch sprang from the back seat, ran ahead of the lumbering truck, and spoke to the driver of the green car. It pushed forward into the line, and Pooch stepped upon the running board of Lacy's car as it passed.

"Get round th' damn' ark in front an' behind them guys I spoke to. They'll take us over 't' quickest way. Step on her. Keep right on their tail." He stood up and surveyed the cars behind, then satisfied with the inspection, settled into the corner of the rear seat and set about relieving his faithful companion.

STROM TO HEAD BOOSTER GROUP ON C. C. DINNER

Notice inviting the membership of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce to the annual membership meeting of the organization will be held on November 13 will be sent out today by Mrs. Helen B. Kingsbury assistant secretary of the chamber. Those who desire to attend should send in reservations without delay so that the necessary arrangements can be made. It is expected that this will be the largest dinner in the history of the organization and extensive preparations are under way.

J. P. Strom was yesterday named as head of the Booster Committee which will call to the attention of every member the importance of the meeting. Assistant Strom will be a committee of some twenty members of the chamber who will assist him in securing ways and means to bring the membership out.

According to Fred B. La Moine general chairman of the dinner a meeting will be held today noon when final details including the location of the banquet will be decided.

The administrative committee which is in charge of the activities of the chamber pending the appointment of a secretary, points out that there are two most important matters to be taken up at this meeting.

1. The adoption of a program which will be followed out by the chamber during the coming year. This program is to be made up of suggestions made at the meeting. These suggestions will then be compiled and those decided the most important either through a vote or some other means will be pushed as the major program of the chamber.

2. The naming of fourteen candidates to fill the seven vacancies which are to occur on the board of directors at the end of the year. These nominations will probably be made from the floor or in some other method which will give the general membership an opportunity to vote on candidates selected by them. This may be done through a ballot containing the entire membership or by direct nomination from the floor.

"FARM BLOC" IS THREATENED BY PROSPERITY ERA

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—General prosperity among the farmers has practically wrecked the famous "Farm Bloc" which by holding the balance of power, has exerted great influence in shaping legislation during the past several sessions of Congress, it was stated by Senate leaders today.

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, chairman of the bloc in the upper branch and representative L. J. Dickinson, of Iowa, who assumed that role in the house, both candidly admit their followers are lukewarm and are disposed to break from the alliance.

Little effort will be made at the next session to enact relief measures for farmers except to extend the cooperative marketing moment, as they appear as a class to be well satisfied with conditions as they are, according to Capper. Dickinson is reported as holding similar views.

In his annual message President Coolidge will likely expound a new cooperative marketing bill, which has the backing of Secretary of agriculture Jardine.

That measure represents the deliberate conclusions of 20 leaders of the farm cooperatives of the country who recently held an extended conference here in an endeavor to reconcile conflicting views as to what steps the government should take to foster cooperative marketing.

The proposed measure provides for the establishment of a division of cooperative marketing inside to department of agriculture in which all the federal agencies concerned with that problem will be centered.

All suggestions for the supervision of the cooperatives, as advanced by the last congress, have been abandoned.

One of the main functions of the new agency will be to put at the service of the cooperatives all of the mass of information the government now gathers as to crops, markets and the methods of organization and finance of cooperatives.

The president will not suggest farm relief along the lines proposed by the farm commission, which made an exhaustive study of the farmers' needs. Its recommendations were rejected by the last congress.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, however, is outspoken in his declaration that the congress should enact additional legislation in favor of the farmers.

He does not agree with the common belief in administration circles that the farmers are now so far on the road to prosperity that they do not need a helping hand.

Reports reaching him are to the effect that farmers in many sections are in dire distress. Borah, however, has no definite legislation in mind.

Senator Norris, of Nebraska will not attempt to revive his bill, held up by the committee on agriculture last year, which provided a revolving fund of $200,000,000 to stabilize the price of export grain. Norris was unable to have his measure enacted when wheat was little more than $1 per bushel. With the price now around $1.50 Norris fears he would get even less support.

Despite its potential power, the weakness of the farm bloc, lies in the fact that at no time were the members wholly in unison regarding legislation desired to aid their constituents.

To add to the confusion farm bureau organizations were frequently at loggerheads over pending or prospective measures.

The great vote of confidence accorded President Coolidge last year by the agricultural states has done much to end the agitation for farm relief legislation.

Before the Presidential election Republican leaders were fearful that the majority of the farmers would cast their ballots for the opposition on the ground that the administration had not secured any major farm relief legislation.

Democratic leaders in congress intend to open up the whole subject of farm relief legislation by demanding a reduction in the tariff of implements used on the farms.

They will contend that by the high tariff farmers are forced to pay exorbitant prices for things bought while they must frequently sell products at a loss, because of the restricted market due to the high freight rates.

Another effort will also be made to reduce the freight rates on farm produce so as to widen the market. That fight will likely be led by Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin as part of his father's unfinished program. Republican leaders will stoutly

Ancient Greek Sculpture Origin of Modern Hairdress

PERMANENT WAVE GREEK COIFFURE 2nd CENTURY B.C. NATURAL WAVE

CHICAGO—Marcel and permanent-waves have their prototype in the coiffures of ancient Greek statues, according to Emily Lloyd, beauty expert and head of the National Schools of Cosmeticians.

"Marcel, the originator of the Marcel wave was inspired by the famous pieces of Greek statuary in the Louvre at Paris," said Miss Lloyd in an address here. "The next step in the progress of hair waving was permanent waving which was introduced ten years ago. Just as the originator Marcel derived inspiration from studying the curls of Venus de Milo, so did the inventor of the permanent wave study human nature and naturally wavy hair until he perfected a wave which has fast turned feminine heads into a sea of permanent undulations which cost the women of the United States $150,000,000 a year. "The Va-Per system of permanent waving recently introduced in this country from Europe, is the newest and most rapid form of a perfect permanent Marcel. A chemical reaction takes the place of electricity as a generator, and the wave is loose, wide and free from kinks.

"Permanent waving has been a beauty salvation for millions of women. More than 4,000 permanent wave machines are now in use in the beauty parlors of the country. It is fair to estimate that each of the 4,000 machines treats five heads a day or a total of 20,000. This means that about 6,000,000 women are crowned with permanent waves annually.

"It is not a startling sight to see mere man entering a beauty shop nowadays to get a wave. In Europe it is a common occurrence."

When Winter Comes, See Old Hongkong

"If in doubt," declares the veteran globe-trotter, "go to Hongkong to spend the winter months, for from November to February, it is a wonderful winter resort. If you decide to go this year, you will have the added advantage of being able to spend a season there before it becomes over crowded, as it is bound to do when it becomes a generally accepted spot to visit during the cold months."

What is there to do in Hongkong? That is a question easily answered. If you are a golfer, then take along your clubs, for the best golf to be found in the east is at Fan-ling, about eighteen miles from the city, where there are two well laid out golf courses. Deep Water Bay and Happy Valley boast courses, too, so that if you should have a tiresome hole which you never can do in here, then his away to the others, and win back your self complacency.

Or, if you are interested in racing, there is the Jockey Club at Happy Valley, and a race course cradled in three hills. Motoring in Hongkong which they do not always have. The environs of the city are beautiful with bays whose clear waters reflect the stars at night and make a shining path for the moon to wander over; with quaint villages giving a more intimate picture of Oriental life than the somewhat cosmopolitan Hongkong itself can do; with a residential section up on the Peak which is worth travelling to Hongkong to see, especially when there is a hotel where the gorgeous view of the harbor can be enjoyed while sipping ambrosia tea. "Yet even while one looks, the sunset drops like a bird, and lights spring up on sea and land so that there are two skies, at peace with each other, full of stars."

And it isn't so very far away. Hongkong. From Victoria and Vancouver travel the fastest ships on the Pacific, the Canadian Pacific Expresses. Or, one could start out on a world cruise from New York, and be dropped in Hongkong.

Improvement Association at Orinda Meets

A meeting of the Orinda Improvement Association was held at Casa Verano with many members present. Great enthusiasm prevailed over the discussion on roadways, civic work, fire department and festive times; which followed the reports of various committees. The finance and installation costs of the Orinda Fire department were audited and a paper was read before the members on the same subject.

The quality and variation of the equipment, coupled by fire prevention measures during the fire menaces of the last season was discussed with gratification. The festive committee reported the last dance of the association a success, and preparations are in order for another dance to be held in the Orinda school auditorium on Saturday evening, November 21.

Mrs. E. I. de Laveage offered her summer home at Orinda for a whist party to be held on December 4, for the benefit of the Orinda Fire department. Special entertaining features will be given during the evening.

Following the motion to adjourn the ladies of the Association served refreshments in the tea room of Casa Verano.

HAROLD LLOYD BREAKS LAUGH METER IN FILM

Harold Lloyd is certainly entitled to feel proud over his accomplishment of "The Freshman" which sent audiences at the California theatre yesterday out onto the street limp with laughing. The laughs start gently at first and work up so gradually and evenly that you don't realize what is happening to you until you find yourself sobbing, "Oh! Oh!" for more breath. Too hearty laughter is a joyous sort of agony no one resents.

The freshman, Harold Lamb, enters college with queer notions as to how a student should act to become the most popular chap on the campus. One of his ideas, gleaned from a movie, is that one should do a fancy jig step every time he is introduced to anyone. This jig, and the fact that he tells every new acquaintance that he's just a regular fellow and they should step right up and call him "Speedy," attracts the immediate attention of the school's chief joker, and after that poor Harold has no rest.

In the hope of popularity he does everything he is told to do. He attempts to make the football team, and is made water boy. He gives a big dance and is forced to attend in a suit that is only basted together. He makes a speech to the entire student body assembled to hear the Dean's address. And he becomes the world's greatest single retail buyer of ice cream cones. Finally however, he gets into a football game and this scrimmage brings "The Freshman" to a finish that is as exciting and thrilling as a funny. Everyone in the cast is excellent, and the college boys and coeds look like the real thing—the best looking bunch of live wire youngsters you ever saw away from a campus. All hail to "The Freshman!" Let no one pass him by unseen!

Other features on the same program include "Marvels in Motion," "Topics of the day," "Aesop's Fables."

Population And Building Are On Increase Here

New families arrived from one state and from five cities in California during October, according to a report on applications for new water services here by the East Bay Water company. During the same month sixty-six new buildings were started here.

In new buildings, Richmond showed the remarkable gain of 53 per cent over the same month a year ago, when but 43 new structures were started. Building is largely confined to dwellings to house growing population, although there are a substantial number of business blocks under construction.

Nevada was represented among new people coming into the city as well as five California cities. A general movement of people from San Francisco to Richmond was noted. Sacramento and Orinda were represented among new people, also, the report shows. Richmond's growth was part of a general expansion throughout the East Bay district in which a total of 1019 new buildings were started and new people arrived from seventeen states, thirty-eight California cities, France, Canada and Honolulu.

"Mile a Minute Mary" Pleasing At Richmond

Eleanor Boardman makes her debut as a screen comedienne in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production "Mile a Minute Mary" which opened last night at the Richmond theatre for an engagement of two days. After appearing in such pictures as "Wife of the Centaur" and "So This is Marriage," Miss Boardman, in "The Way of a Girl," demonstrates her versatility by playing comedy with sparkling gaiety and nerve.

"The Way of a Girl" itself is a distinct addition to motion pictures. It is a unique combination of comedy and melodrama and is enhanced with some of the most spectacular scenes on the screen in recent months.

For sheer beauty of photography we have seen nothing in recent months to compare with the prize fight scenes! Robert G. Vignola, the director, and his cameramen, John Arnold, are to be congratulated for the tremendous suggestion of great crowds given in the mysterious lighting.

Besides Miss Boardman, the cast includes Matt Moore, William Russell and Mathew Betz. "The Way of a Girl," was adapted by Albert Shelby LeVino from the novel by Katherine Newlin Burt.

Other features on the same program include "A Rarin' Romeo," a Walter Hiers comedy, "Topics of the Day," "Aesop's Fables."

Harrelson Rites Will Be Held Here Today

Services will be held this afternoon for Mrs. Selma Christina Harrelson, 51, who passed away Sunday morning at the El Reposo Sanitarium in Berkeley, after a short illness. She was a native of Denmark and was employed by the California Cap works as a gate keeper for 15 years. She is survived by her husband, Charles M. Harrelson.

Rev. S. T. Himes will officiate at the services, which will be held at 3:30 from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel and interment will follow in the Sunset View cemetery.

OIL TANKER IS RAMMED IN FOG

The Alaskan bound Standard Oil Tanker, El Segundo, sailing from the Port of Richmond, and the German Steamer Alda, San Francisco bound, collided in the fog 40 miles off the coast of California on Sunday.

The El Segundo was rammed forward, causing a dent and a slight leak, according to wireless reports from Captain Joseph Rogers, her master. The vessel continued on its journey, the damage not being sufficient to warrant turning back. She carries a crew of 30 men while the Alda's crew is fifty.

The Alda limped into San Francisco late Sunday night and yesterday a survey was made to determine the amount of damage.

The Haunted House

TALES about it were as numerous as its dark, broken windows. Oaks shadowed it thickly; winds sucked through its halls. The shutters sagged and were ivy-eaten—the windows giving in to an emptiness at once foreboding, dreadful.

Excitement ran agog when the place was bought. School children huddled to watch the rooms renovated. A sign swung out: "Stop her for tea." Lights sprang up. It became a frequent pleasure to drop in of evenings. In time, the towns-people loved the place. The inviting sign, the cleanliness, the light banished fear.

LOCALS LOSE ONE, WIN ONE FROM OAKLAND

Richmond Union high school opened its basketball season here last night when two weight teams played two fives of similar weight from Oakland.

The 130 pounders, by playing hard, consistent basketball, beat the 130's of Oakland by a score of 15 to 13. Tittlemore did the most brilliant work of the locals, playing good on the floor and shooting four fouls and three baskets.

The Richmond lineup was: Bowman and Powers, forwards; Tittlemore, center; Hoskins and Captain Reardon, guards; Sanders, Richmond, Schroder, subs. Oakland used O'Brien and Garver, forwards; Lamphere, center; Kinsky and Tarleton, guards; and Gladstein, sub.

Richmond led the Oaklanders all the way. At the beginning of the last quarter, Richmond was leading 12 to 10 when Bowman shot a foul and Tittlemore shot two.

The 120 pounders of Oakland made up for what their heavier schoolmates failed to do. They took a 12 to 10 game from the 120's of Richmond, who were playing together for the first time. Oakland was speedy and had highly developed passing. Mallin got four of Richmond's five buckets. The lineup were:

Richmond—Sandwick and Mallin, forwards; Johnson, center; S. Gordon and Pinto, guards; Haurah, sub. Oakland—Turner and Lawrence, forwards; Conrad, center; Miskitz and Poe, guards; Basken and Chinn, subs.

MUCH INTEREST DISPLAYED IN GOLF CONTEST

Interest is running high in the golf tournament which is being staged by the Richmond Merchants' Association. Following the announcement a few days ago of the handicaps a few changes have been made following a closer checkup.

J. L. Eakle who is to play against F. A. Tittlemore with a handicap of 24 has had his handicap changed from 24 to 27. Russell Meyers has had his handicap changed from 14 to 15, he is to meet Fred Shaw with a handicap of 12, the handicap of J. Maxwell has been changed from 20 to 25, Maxwell meets Harry Marcus with a handicap of 25.

That the contest will be an exciting one is indicated by the amount of interest which is being displayed. The first flights of the contest must be completed by November 16.

Father and Son Week Observed By Hi-Y Group

In observance of the national "Fathers and Sons" week, the Hi-Y Boys' club of the Y. M. C. A. entertained their fathers at a banquet and entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. building last night.

The program of several selections by the Hi-Y orchestra composed of Paul Basham, Vernon Siple and Robert Burns; words of welcome by President Russell King, poem "Only a Father" by Irwin Henning; "How to Raise a Son" by K. J. Henning; novelty stunts by the orchestra; address of the evening by Dr. W. W. Giberson.

Following the program and banquet the fathers and sons donned gym togs and held a volley ball contest and a baseball game. The sons won two out of three sets of volleyball, 15-12, 12-15, 15-14. Then the fathers turned around and administered a severe trouncing to their sons in baseball by a score of 22 to 14.

When the Bears of California and the Huskies of Washington match wits and strength at Berkeley next Saturday the fans can expect to see probably the best football game on the coast this season. ARMY VS NAVY

Tomorrow afternoon the Army and the Navy of the West will meet at the California bowl in an effort to duplicate the great football spectacle of the East the West Point-Annapolis battle. The game, which is the first of an annual event, will be marked by military and naval exhibitions, and at rooting sections just as the classic of the East is marked.

NEVERS RETURNS

PALO ALTO, Nov. 9.—The little band of red shirted Cardinals who went to Washington Saturday were greeted by over 2,000 Stanford supporters when they returned with their leader, Ernie Nevers today. No one can tell a Stanford favorite that Nevers was stopped by Tesreau Saturday. They even can show the doubtful on paper that he was not.

RABBIT BRINGS $4,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Rabbit Maranville, veteran Chicago National shortstop and manager of the Cubs for a time has been obtained by Brooklyn for the waiver price of $4,000. MCLEAN MEETS GORDON

Stewart McLean, Los Angeles pugilist, is prepared to give Jackie Gordon the battle of his life when they meet in the main event of the Oakland card tomorrow night. Council May Call Election Next Monday that are to be placed in the annex providing the vote carried. This request included information on police protection, fire protection including the installation of hydrants, street lights, the approximate tax rate and the possibility of the completion of the Panhandle boulevard.

The city council did not feel that it was in a position to make pre-election promises but it was generally conceded that the full amount of tax money collected in that district would be expended there for improvements at the least.

It was pointed out that for the first few years an expenditure larger than the amount that could be derived from the Annex would be expended there in needed improvements. It is however considered a good investment as with the growth of the community the entire city of Richmond will eventually benefit.

The matter of answering the communication was referred to city manager J. A. McVittie. The presentation of the petition to the council asking for the election is the result of an active campaign carried on by the annexation committee of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce consisting of M. A. Hays and Fred S. Newsum.

SCHOOLMATES HAVE REUNION

A happy school day reunion took place Sunday evening when Richard and Fred Spierisch met Manuel Thomas who was here on the Vaudeville bill at the California theatre as a slight of hand performer. All three men had gone to school together in Sacramento years ago and had not met since 1906 when Thomas was a guard in San Francisco during the earthquake. Spierisch brothers are well known plumbers of this city.

a "false and misleading" statement before congressional committees. A statement made by Gen. Hugh Drum, assistant chief of staff, was directly contradicted in this testimony.

The general staff has ignored recommendations by the air service for improvement and development of aviation. Army airplanes are, for the most part, obsolete or obsolescent. The Army has not sufficient plans or pilots to place the nation on a peace time basis.

Most of the planes in use were built during the war, seven or more years ago. Hawaii, the Philippines and the Panama Canal are not protected with a sufficient air force.

Mitchell's counsel created a sensation at the opening of the court by announcing that they will prove the Navy Department attempted to influence Mrs. Zachary Landow, widow of the Shoshone's commander against telling the truth about the protests which were made by her husband against making the fight.

Forty enemy aircraft, spraying tear gas out of the skies, could force evacuation of the District of Columbia, seat of the American government, it was testified by Major General Amos A. Fries, Chief of Army Chemical Warfare.

Funeral Today for Mrs. Hilda England

New Quarters Occupied Here By Girls Club

The first meeting of the Tamalpais Camp Fire girls in their new club rooms in the city hall took place last night. Florence Moran presiding. The girls expressed much delight in the new quarters and through their guardian Mrs. W. G. Miller wish to thank the Civic Center club and the East Side Improvement association for making it possible to meet in these rooms.

A charity Christmas tree was planned by the girls last night which will be given a few days prior to Christmas, and they are asking the people of Richmond to contribute all broken or discarded toys which they will mend for the poor children of this city. The girls will be glad to call on December 5th for any toys if they are notified. Anyone having anything to donate is asked to call the guardian at Richmond 2286-J or get in touch with one of the girls. Invitations are to be sent out for little children of Richmond and Santa Claus will be on hand to make them happy.

The girls are busy with their magazine subscription bureau and wish to notify the public that they are now offering the same rates as any magazine outfit and also have the reading club reductions. The girls are using this means to get funds instead of asking for a subscription drive.

A new guardian and assistant have been secured and a new camp fire will be started at the next meeting. All girls of 11 years or over who are interested in the work of the Camp fire are invited to the meeting next Monday night in the basement of the city hall at 7:30.

International Questions To Be Discussed

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—International economic problems of particular interest to the Pacific Coast will be discussed at a meeting of the American Section of the International Chamber of Commerce to be held in connection with the mid-year meeting of the Western Division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in Seattle, December 7 and 8.

The American Section meeting will be presided over by Paul Shoup, vice-president of the Southern Pacific and also vice-president of the Western Division of the National Chamber. Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National bank, of Los Angeles, and member of the Dawes committee, and Reginald H. Parsons, president, Parsons Investment Company, of Seattle, will be the speakers.

Both Robinson and Parsons are students of International business questions, and they have contributed generously of their time and energy toward a solution of the economic problems confronting the business world since the war. In addition to his work in connection with the formulation of the Dawes Plan, Robinson recently served as a member of the Economic Restoration committee of the International Chamber, which made a world economic survey with a view to making the Dawes Plan more fully effective. The report was submitted to the meeting of the International Chamber at Brussels last June, and steps will soon be taken to put into operation the suggestions made in the report looking to the stabilization of conditions in Europe.

Parsons' interest in international affairs led him to make a firsthand study of conditions in Europe last summer following his attendance at the Brussels meeting of the International Chamber. He visited industrial centers of Central Europe, gathering information on political, social, industrial and financial conditions. Parsons is a member of the American Committee of the International Chamber, and also of the National Foreign Trade Council. He was formerly president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

POSSE HUNTS HOPPE SLAYER

NAPA, Nov. 9.—A movement was started here today to call in E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist and the A. J. Kane Detective agency, in an effort to solve the many baffling angles of the murder of E. E. Hoppe, 82 reclus, who has been missing from his ranch home more than 30 miles from here since October 10.

Following the discovery of blood-stained garments of the aged man in his cabin last Friday and charred bones in an abandoned orchard yesterday, a posse of mountaineers, headed by District Attorney T. C. Anglim, today found a human thigh bone in the bed once occupied by Hoppe.

The axe murder theory was advanced when a blood-stained undershirt was picked up by the posse 200 yards from the Hoppe cabin. One arm of the garment was missing and other rents showed signs of having been made with an axe or hatchet. All evidence was sent to the Stanford hospital in San Francisco for expert examination.

It is now believed by the district attorney that Hoppe was killed in his bed, his head hacked off and carried away and the remainder of the body stuffed into the large kitchen stove after being dismembered and cremated. Evidence showed, Anglim said, that a roaring fire had been built in the stove and the victim burned.

Contract Let For Elks Addition to Veterans Hospital

Upon opening bids last night by the Elks of Eastbay lodges for the new host house at the Livermore hospital for tubercular war veterans, it was found that J. A. Bruce and son, general contractors, of Pleasanton, were the lowest bidders and they were accordingly awarded the contract for the work.

John A. Miller and Reul Crose represented the Richmond lodge of Elks on the committee, which met at the Oakland Elks club with William Maynard of Alameda as general chairman.

The building will be erected out of funds raised by the Elks at a vaudeville show in Oakland some months ago.
